Political 'Insiders' Hear He Has Already Applied to Wilson for Prospective Job

Chairman B. G. Rivenburgh of the Democratic county committee, today received a cablegram from Judge A. A. Wilder, who is on the coast, that the election of Woodrow Wilson to the presidency is sure. Judge Wilder is already jubilating over the victory of his party and the cablegram is to be used as campaign material for the Democrats here.

Supported by authority which transfers the news from the realm of rumor to the plane of almost absolute certainty, it is asserted that Link McCandless, Democratic candidate for delegate to Congress, has already placed an anchor to windward in the shape of an application to Woodrow Wilson to be appointed Governor of the Territory. In the event the Democratic party should prevail in the election on the mainland.

For some days it has been talked of in political circles that McCandless has given up hope of being elected delegate but that he wants to get as big a vote as possible in order to sustain his claims to the governorship by a showing of strength among the people. It is believed that this is the reason why he took the risk of going to Maui was not only to keep away from the county organization's request for funds but to pick up some Maui votes and thereby show Wilson that he has strength on more islands than one.

Moreover, McCandless can point to

GALLANT COL. PARKER IS BOOMED BY OUR FAIR LADIES

If Honolulu Women Had Votes He Would Beat Fern to a Frazzle

The gallant colonel, Sam Parker, whose name looms large before an appreciative public as the Republican candidate for the office of mayor of this municipality, is gaining in voting strength and popularity every day, as witnessed by the increased interest he excites with his speeches in public places and, what is particularly significant, an indicated by the way in which the women, are taking up the cause of his candidacy.

One instance of this wave of feminine appreciation was observed this morning when a crowd was seen before the window of the Mary Ann Bonnet Shop. It was no new "creation" in the millinery line that was drawing the attention of people on the street. It was a handsome picture of Colonel Samuel Parker, taken ten years ago, appropriately framed and definitely labeled as the portrait of the man who heads the Republican county ticket and who will probably be so far ahead of Fern, when the election returns are in as Fern will be far ahead of Huftace, that merry soapbox jester who is entertaining noonday gatherings with the humorous exhibition of trying to take himself seriously. Parker but tons are being worn by hundreds of women throughout the city and Parker cards are used as markers in the

IVERS DENIES DR. CLARK IS OUT OF FAVOR

Story of Recall Called Untrue by Head of Immigration Board

DECIDED LONG AGO AGENT BROWN TO WORK IN EAST

Commissioner Wanted Here to Go Around Plantations. Laborers with Him

Richard Ivers, chairman of the board of immigration, smiled when his attention was called to a sensational story in the morning paper, to the effect that Dr. Victor S. Clark, superintendent of immigration, had been recalled from Russia and would probably be asked for his resignation on his return, on account of dissatisfaction with his work and friction between him and the board. Mr. Ivers had not seen the article until it was shown to him by a Star-Bulletin reporter.

"The whole thing is this way," said Mr. Ivers: "Mr. Raymond C. Brown found it utterly impossible to charter a steamer in London to bring out Portuguese and Spanish immigrants. There had been such an advance in freights that a steamer could not be procured. We could have had as many Portuguese and Spanish people as we wanted if only we could have secured transportation for them."

"In these circumstances there was no use in keeping Mr. Brown in London. So the board of immigration some time ago cabled orders to him to go to Russia and join Dr. Clark, taking up the work there as soon as Dr. Clark could leave it in his hands."

"Orders were cabled to Dr. Clark to return home when relieved by Mr. Brown, and bring with him the one hundred people that he was to select from Southern Russia."

"There is absolutely no friction with Dr. Clark at all. We wanted him here to go around the plantations and see how the new people were getting along. The board has only held two short meetings since the one when it was decided to ask Dr. Clark to return."

books of the little school-children.

The colonel in his talks invariably has something sincerely pleasant to say concerning the desirability of women having a hand in the conduct of government, for he looks forward to that time when the influence of women's ideals will make a better and happier Honolulu for all who reside therein.

But the Bonnet Shop incident cannot be lost sight of. It is such an incident as this that show which way the wind blows—that eloquent prophecies the coming benefit of a Republican mayor.

SHINGLE PREDICTS KUHIO WILL BEAT MAJORITY OF 1908

Chairman Robert W. Shingle of the Republican Territorial central committee today issued a pre-election prediction. The head of the Republican party in this Territory confidently declares that Delegate Kuhio will win over McCandless by a larger majority than that of two years ago. He gave out the following:

"Reports received by me this morning from Maui and Hawaii simply confirm previous advices to the effect that Kuhio will carry both islands by overwhelming majorities. McCandless made no impression at all on Maui and might have just as well remained at Waikane."

"I confidently predict the re-election of Kuhio by a larger majority than that of two years ago. The prediction is based on an accurate canvass of every precinct in the Territory."

ELECTION FIGURES.

On page 7 of this issue will be found election figures for information and handy reference next Tuesday.

The public is cordially invited to watch the returns furnished by this paper. The same figures will also be shown at the Liberty theatre.

CITY MOURNS SHERMAN WITH CLOSED DOORS

Official Respects Paid to Memory of Vice-President Brief Today

Desks were closed, doors were locked, and the national flag was at half staff at army headquarters and the naval station this morning, out of respect to the memory of vice President Sherman, whose funeral took place at Utica, N. Y., today. Orders from the war and navy departments made it a day of official mourning, and no business was transacted.

At the naval station nineteen minute guns boomed in sorrowful salute as the hands of the clock came to gather at the top of the dial, and the same tribute was paid to the dead statesman at Fort Ruger, De Russy and Shafter, and at Schofield Barracks.

All regimental colors and those of the Kamehameha corps of cadets and the battalion of engineers will be hoisted for a period of thirty days, and the officers will wear the prescribed service mourning, a knot of crepe on the sabre hilt, for the same length of time.

All the courts, Federal and Territorial, were closed today in honor to the memory of the Vice President, and all Territorial offices, at the Capitol building and elsewhere were closed, save that of Secretary Mott-Smith, whose staff is kept busy day and night preparing and distributing ballots throughout the county for the coming election.

The jury sitting in the third Mahuka site case, which did not complete its work yesterday as expected, was called again this morning, only to be dismissed until 9 o'clock next Monday morning. All that remains to be done before submitting this case to the jury is the reading of the court's instructions.

Mott-Smith's office staff was kept busy until 2 o'clock this morning, preparing the ballots for distribution among the precincts on this island, and two automobiles were employed today in carrying the bundles to the various points.

Alexander & Baldwin, Ltd., this afternoon received the following cablegram from New York, which contains market quotations for sugar: "Minnesota arrived Wednesday balance of Alaska's cargo, basis $3.95."

FERN SETS DAY ASIDE TO HELP HEALTH FIGHT

Tomorrow Proclaimed 'Tuberculosis Day' and Mass Meeting Will Be Held

Believing that sooner or later Honolulu, as the capital and commercial center of the territory of Hawaii, must awake to the great danger threatening it and other modern communities from tuberculosis, I hereby set aside Sunday, November 3rd, 1912, as "Tuberculosis Day" in recognition of the great impetus that on that day will be given the war waged on the Great White Plague by the united churches of Honolulu.

In full realization of what is meant, both by added impetus to this humanitarian campaign as well as by community indifference, I hold it only proper that every citizen of Honolulu should on that day devote some small portion of his time to a study of tuberculosis and its evils or the propagation of that knowledge among his friends, always bearing in mind the great fact that great as those evils are, they can be no greater than a united community's determination to rid itself of them.

(Signed) JOSEPH J. FERN,
Mayor of Honolulu.

Following a consultation between the mayor's office and the directors of the great anti-tuberculosis mass meeting at the Bijou theater tomorrow night, Mayor Fern this morning issued a proclamation setting aside tomorrow as "Tuberculosis Day," putting Honolulu beside a half hundred of the largest cities on the mainland who will tomorrow observe the day in commemoration of a revived nationwide campaign against the great white plague.

Four nationalities will be represented in the immense audience that is expected at the Bijou tomorrow night for Japanese, Portuguese and Hawaiian papers have been taking the matter up all week and delegations of the nationalities they represent have been formed to attend. From reports to the social service committee of the

LOW-BROW LOUNGER CHASED BY "HIS NIBS" THE GOVERNOR

Chief Executive Satisfies a Stranger's Curiosity in a Hurry

"Say, is His Nibs, the Gov'nor, in?" The inquirer, evidently a stranger of the "low-brow" type, had strayed into the Government building this morning on a sight-seeing tour. He had sauntered carelessly into the various offices, the senate chamber and the old throne room, staring critically at the old paintings of former Hawaiian monarchs and members of the royal families. He stood now in the office of the secretary of the Governor. The Chief Executive, though he had dismissed his secretary and stenographer for the holiday which all of

The stranger took one piercing look at "His Nibs," then turned and beat a hasty retreat, not stopping until he reached the pavement below.
